This incredible town transports you back to the 1800s, when the West was wild and hard work was fueled by aspirations of a better life. Near South Pass City, this booming mining town enjoyed short-lived prosperity starting in the late 1860s. Atlantic City had nearly 2,000 miners, many of whom were vacationers or part-time prospectors looking to score gold, so the town had many options for leisure and entertainment. During its heyday, the town reportedly had a brewery, dance hall and opera house. Currently, many original log homes and structures still remain. As host of the world's largest outdoor rodeo, Cheyenne Frontier Days earns its reputation as the "Daddy of 'Em All," drawing some of the biggest names in the sport for a shot at more than $1 million in cash and prizes (a sizable step up from the $25 purse winning cowboys received early on). Other daily entertainment includes the amazing pancake breakfast, parade, carnival, visit to the Native American Village, witnessing the Chuck Wagon Cook-off, shopping, and more. Cheyenne Frontier Days will be celebrating its 125th anniversary in 2021, and it is sure to be one of the best with some world class acts hoping to get a spot on the big stage.

Astronomers and night sky photographers seek out the darkness of parks like Devils Tower National Monument, islands of night in an ever-brighter world.
